

The Place of Expansion

A limited-edition artwork by Rachel Callander commissioned for the National Allied Health Conference.

This artwork has been lovingly created exclusively for NAHC. The theme of expanding horizons elicits thoughts of growth, development and extension. Extension of ourselves, of our skills, of our connections and of our possibilities.

This unique artwork is its own representation of expansion. It is an invitation to explore, to look closer, to immerse one's self in the colours, patterns, shapes and hues that form its identity. Discover a salt lake, a vibrant sunset, a distant ocean, a new shore. The colours of Whadjuk Boodjar. Water, sand, galaxy.

Created in a brief window of existence, the ice, water, pigment and pixels united to form an entirely new expression, reminding us that innovation can arise out of the smallest sparks, from the most unlikely places.

If we can stay open, stay curious, and follow the sparks, we may just find ourselves led down brand new pathways - interesting paths to interesting places.

Expansion embraces curiosity. Without judgement, without reducing the outcome, in openness of mind and heart.

This artwork is a soft reminder of the power within all of us to expand and to grow. To connect with others, to share our ideas, to be inspired, transformed and transported.

Tiny spark. Big impact.

To new horizons,

With love,

Rachel Callander
